

Introduction

Over centuries, Pahari Speaking People (PSP) evolved a culture typical of mountain dwellers as reflected in their distinct life style, dress patterns, food habits, physical features and other social customs and traditions. Their cultural compositeness depicts their accommodative character towards the other communities sharing their habitations. Since majority of the PSP live in and around the highlands of the state, they are relatively cut off from the mainstream society and confront a definite topographical disadvantage. The Pahari community has been striving for Scheduled Tribe Status since 1975. Their struggle towards their cause sharpened in 1991 following the conferring of Scheduled tribe status upon Gujjar-Bakkarwals of the State. This created a definite consciousness among Pahari community who launched a full flagged movement in order to get the said preferential treatment, fearing the identity concerns.

Geographically, Pahari speaking community is distributed throughout the State. However, their major pockets are found among the foothills of the Pir- Panchal range with major concentrations in Poonch, Rajouri, Baramulla and Kupwara. Besides, these four major pockets, their habitations are also found in Anantnag, Kulgam, Shopian, Pulwama, Budgam, Ganderbal and Bandipora districts as well.

Language

Pahari language has been recognized in the sixth schedule of the constitution of Jammu and Kashmir. It's an offshoot of Indo-Aryan family of languages, comprising various dialects as recognised in the "Linguistic Survey of India" by George Grairson. Religiously, Pahari is being spoken by diverse group comprised of Muslims, Hindus and Sikhs. It was also observed that the community is concerned about the preservation of their culture, particularly language which they consider their status symbol and, hence, a hallmark of their identity.

Socio economic Status:

Economically, Pahari Speaking People (PSP) are poor and their economy is primarily based on subsistence agriculture and other allied activities such as cattle rearing which gives them their pastoral and migratory character. Given the lack of infrastructure and absence of commercial avenues, unemployment is rampant among the PSP of the state. Pertinently, majority of them are still living below poverty line as per the report submitted by 'Institute of Peace and Conflict Studies' (IPCS), June 2011. A remarkable dependence of the Pahari Speaking People (PSP) on the pasture lands for the purpose of livestock rearing—a factor which also results in temporary migration of majority of these families to high land pastures (bahikkas) especially during the summer months.

Pahari Speaking community is an ethnic community as embedded in a mosaic of collective traditionalism and reflected through their physical features, the topographical disadvantage cultural distinctiveness of origin, common language, dress pattern, food habit, common psychological makeup, similar physical features, traditional organization in basic institutions of marriage, family and kinship, lower positions in socio-economic scale and relative isolation from the mainstream society, tantamount to make the Pahari speaking community of the state an ethnic group.
